CIVIL WAR IN BRAZIL

Former Reports of Trouble Prove True.

STILL MORE ALARMING REPORTS

An Uprising of Troops and Citizens Against the Authority of Marshal Da Fonseca, the Dictator—Affairs in Brazil Similar to Those in Chili at the Beginning of the Year.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—There is no longer any doubt that Brazil is in the throes of a civil war, and that a most serious uprising of troops and citizens against the authority of Marshal Da Fonseca, the dictator, have taken place. The reports classed as sensational and unfounded, which have been in circulation here for a week past, and which have increased in gravity hour by hour, seem not to have been exaggerated in the slightest. In fact, it would appear that the true state of affairs is much more alarming than already stated.

Important dispatches have been received here, in spite of the strict censorship observed by the dictator's orders, over all telegraph and cable offices. It is true that these messages have been of the briefest nature and in cipher purposely distorted and changed to deceive the censors, but enough is known for it to be stated that according to these dispatches civil war is raging in Brazil, that two or more provinces have declared their independence, that an engagement has been fought between the troops adhering to the dictator and the forces of those opposing his power, and that the latter have wounded and captured at least one general officer, General Fernandez. From this it is judged that Da Fonseca's troops have been defeated and that more serious conflicts may be looked forward to as the dictator has openly announced his intention of putting down what he terms as the "rebellion" by all the measures in his power.

The first dispatch received yesterday said that a force of 4,000 Brazilian troops of the garrison had revolted, and it was inferred that it was a revolt upon the part of the garrison at Rio Janeiro. Such, however, later in the afternoon does not seem to have been the case, for a later message had it that the troops forming the garrisons of several Brazilian towns had revolted, and that in all 4,000 men had risen against the dictator.

In addition, the revolt in the province of Rio Grande do Sul is spreading so rapidly that a large body of well armed citizens will be ready in a very few days, to take the field in defence of the territory which they have declared a free state. Their leaders are gathering arms, ammunition and men at various points, and provisions are being provided, on all sides, by voluntary contributions or upon payment in notes endorsed by the revolutionary leader. The latter are making every preparation to give Da Fonseca's troops a warm reception should they attempt to crush the independence of Rio Grande do Sul. In view of the fact that some of the dictator's warships are expected to take a hand in the struggle, preparing in the revolted province referred to, steps are being taken, it is said, to defend by torpedoes or by other methods, the entrance to Dos Patos bay leading to Porto Alegre, the capital.

Yesterday's dispatches from Brazil also announced that Fonseca was leaving or had left Rio, and that he was expected shortly at Sao Paulo, capital of the Brazilian province of that name and situated about 200 miles southwest of Rio Janeiro, and some forty miles northwest of Santos. Sao Paulo is one of the oldest cities in Brazil and is the place where the provincial assembly holds its meetings. It is expected that Fonseca is either contemplating making Sao Paulo the basis of his operations against the rebels or that he prefers to make Santos, an excellent seaport, his maritime headquarters and Sao Paulo, by which it is connected by rail, his army headquarters. Of course, the alarm wording of the cable message received leaves much unexplained which should otherwise be made clear. The fact remains, however, that Fonseca is expected at Sao Paulo, and that important developments are expected.

Another dispatch also received yesterday says that the province of Minas-Geraes and Los Catilinos are supporting the movement in opposition to Fonseca. Minas-Geraes is north of Sao Paulo and the latter province between Minas-Geraes and the province of Rio do Sul, so it is imagined that Fonseca's move to Sao Paulo may have been in order to prevent a junction of the forces of Minas-Geraes and Rio do Sul with the possibility of the insurgents marching upon Rio Janeiro after the junction had been formed.

If it is true, and there seems no reason to doubt it, that the province of Minas-Geraes has joined in the movement against the despotism of Fonseca, it means that a population of considerably over 2,000,000 people, a very rich province having vast prairies covered with cattle, important iron works, and in a word, one of the richest and most populous provinces in Brazil, has declared itself opposed to the methods employed by the dictator and that it has determined by force of arms, if necessary, to defend its liberties and to leave no stone unturned to bring about the deposition of Fonseca from power.

It seems to be no longer a question with the revolted provinces, of simply declaring themselves independent of the sway of the dictator; they appear to have determined to depose him, constitutionally if necessary; by force of arms, if such a step is necessary.

The question which is troubling both parties apparently, is the disposition to be made of the fleet and the course which the vessels will follow when so disposed of. There is no doubt that the report cabled here, to the effect that the entire fleet is not loyal to the dictator and that Admiral Mello, a staunch republican, is the leader of this powerful feature in the opposition to Da Fonseca, is correct. In fact Da Fonseca hardly knows who or what he can count upon at the present moment, and some sensational winding up of the whole trouble would not be astonishing. It is frankly admitted among the dictator's entourage, that he is in fear if not in danger of assassination, and that he is taking the greatest precautions to provide for his safety. Also the fact is not lost sight of that the dictator has for a long time past been suffering severely from a cancerous disease, which is far from being benefited by the tremendous nervous strain he is now subjected to. Under these circumstances one would think that the dictator would do all in his power to avoid further trouble and that he would make some efforts to restore the public mind to a state of comparative tranquility, but Da Fonseca does not seem to have adopted this course. According to yesterday's cable messages from Brazil, he has suspended the guarantees to which all citizens were entitled, and he has, in addition, appointed a military commission, or court martial, to try all insurgents who may fall into the hands of the dictator's troops. In a word there is now, by the dictator's orders, no power in Brazil but his own, and that power is the power of the sword, of might against right, of the dictator's troops, and a portion of the army against the unorganized citizens of Da Fonseca's country.

Ships of war, supposed to be loyal to the dictator, were reported some days ago to have been dispatched to Brazil. This seems to be correct, but no news can be obtained as to the instructions given to those vessels or as to the action they will take in the waters of Rio Grande do Sul. Meanwhile the movement against Da Fonseca continues to gain strength, and reports of further fighting are received.

Late yesterday evening nothing more was known about the engagement between the dictator's troops and the opposition forces by which General Fernandez was captured after receiving a severe wound.

Uruguay and Paraguay, it may be added, are collecting their troops together in order to be in readiness for anything which may happen.

The chiefs of the movements against Da Fonseca are General Astopillo, General Frayre, Baron Hjuk and Visconde Pelotas, who are rapidly organizing a government for the national party, as the opposition is termed, and they are also trying to build up an army and, if possible, a navy. Indeed, to put the matter in a nutshell, the situation of affairs in Brazil may be said to be almost identical with the situation of affairs in Chili, at the commencement of the present year.

War Rumors Confirmed at Washington. WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—A cablegram has been received at the state department from Brazil confirming the dispatch received by the Brazilian minister here. Mr. Blaine's dispatch also states that Rio Grande do Sul and two smaller provinces have seceded, and are under the protection of military who are in sympathy with the revolutionists.

OVER AN EMBANKMENT.

Train Wrecked on the Kansas City Road Near St. Paul, Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 13.—A special to The Dispatch from Durango, Iowa, says that No. 1 on the Kansas City road, which left Chicago at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening and was due at St. Paul at 7:30 yesterday morning, left the track two miles north of this place on the seven foot dump at 12:30 in the morning. The baggage car left the track first and pulled the rear truck of the tender with it. The baggage car and first and second coaches were thrown over on their sides down the north side embankment.

Three sleeping cars also left the track, and the trucks were strewn around, but the cars were not overturned. The track was torn up by the derailment, and six coach lengths of it had to be relaid. It required seven hours to clear the track, after which the train was made up and again started for St. Paul. The cause of the accident has not yet been ascertained. Engineer McGovern said he was running at a speed of about twenty-five miles per hour at the time, and he made a good stop. No passengers were injured, and many of those in the sleeping cars were not awakened.

Held Up a Cripple.

TIFFIN, O., Nov. 13.—While driving near Republic, last night, Theodore Meale, a one-legged resident of that village, was stopped by a highwayman and compelled to look into the muzzle of a revolver until he was willing to part with $16 he had in his pocket. The robber is not known.

Boy Hunter Killed.

CAMDEN, S. C., Nov. 13.—While Robert Zemp and Wallace Vaughn, two boys about fourteen years of age, were out in a boat yesterday afternoon near Camden hunting ducks, one of the guns in the boat was accidentally discharged. The charge entered the back of Vaughn's head killing him.

Shot by an Officer.

DETROIT, Nov. 13.—Jacob Pfunt, of Alexander township, Genesee county, N. Y., was shot and fatally injured yesterday afternoon by Officer Parry. Pfunt had been associated with suspicious characters during the morning, and resisted the officer who was trying to arrest him.

Escaped Prisoners Recaptured.

WAUPUN, Wis., Nov. 13.—The three prisoners who escaped from the state prison Wednesday evening were recaptured at 10 o'clock yesterday morning by two men named Coyle and Schofield. The convicts made no resistance and were taken back at once.

A BOLD ROBBERY.

An Express Train Held Up by Highwaymen.

THE EXPRESS CAR ROBBED.

The Sum Secured by the Robbers Was Small as the Larger Portion Was in the Form of Drafts, Payment on Which Will Be Stopped.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 12.—An express train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, en route for Milwaukee and the northwest, was held up by train robbers about a mile this side of Western Union Junction, and the express car was dynamited and robbed. The sum secured by the robbers was small as the larger portion was in the form of drafts, payment on which will be stopped. The robbery occurred about 1 o'clock yesterday morning.

Wednesday evening five or six men left Racine on a freight train, which they left at Western Union Junction, remaining there until the express from Chicago came in sight. They boarded the train and, unknown to any one, made their way to the tender and lay in wait for the favorable moment.

It soon came. About a mile north of the station the fireman began shoveling coal into the firebox, when he was startled by a noise, and on turning about to ascertain the cause of the trouble, was covered by a rifle in the hands of a masked man. Another barrel was pointed at the head of the engineer. The lights were then extinguished. The conductor and engineer were marched ahead of the robbers, who followed in single file to the express car.

A Nervy Messenger.

One of the robbers rapped on the door at the side and ordered Messenger Murphy to open it. This the latter refused to do. Then a bomb was thrown through the window and the demand was renewed. Still the plucky messenger refused to open the door. A terrible explosion followed, the force of which can be imagined when it is known that the heavy timber running along the side of the car as the foundation upon which it is built, was completely torn in two.

A large hole was made in the door, and before the echoes of the explosion had died away, and amid the smoke and dust, one of the robbers sprang into the aperture and covered the messenger and his assistant with revolvers. Both men had been thrown down by the terrible concussion. Even then it was some time before Murphy would consent to surrender the keys to the safes.

The explosion had thrown the inside of the car into the greatest confusion. The safes which the robbers were bent on seeing were buried beneath the boxes and packages. Fireman Averitt was compelled at the point of a revolver to get into the car and uncover the safes while the robbers, with the exception of one who stood guard over him, took care of Engineer McKay, and stood to receive any of the passengers or trainmen who might attempt to come to the rescue of the car.

Two safes in the car were thrown out of the car and dragged off a short distance, when, with a delay of about half an hour, the train was permitted to proceed on its way, arriving in this city at 2:22.

The firing attracted the attention of the flagman, who, looking forward and seeing the men about the express car, immediately started for Western Union Junction, where he told his story, and dispatches were sent to the authorities of Racine, Chicago and Milwaukee, and to the railroad and express company's headquarters in those cities.

Prompt action was taken, and as fast as special trains could be made ready detectives were sent to the scene of the robbery. There are twenty-two detectives working on the case, belonging to the city forces and the companies' specials.

In the Passenger Coaches.

The scene in the passenger cars while the robbery was being perpetrated was ludicrous in the extreme. In the rear car were several Milwaukeeans, including George Obermann, the brewer, Frank Lappen, and Paul Zabet. The curtains were immediately pulled down and the inmates began secreting their valuables, hiding them in their stockings and about the car.

The express car on reaching Milwaukee was unloaded and taken to the shops for repairs. Among the goods taken out, a bale of cloaks was fairly blown into ribbons, having the appearance of being put through a threshing machine. A number of hats, known among ladies as "shades," were torn and riddled into a shapeless mass.

Messenger Murphy's clothing was stripped into threads, and it is a miracle how he escaped with his life. The report that he had been shot at by the robbers is probably without foundation.

Says It Was Small.

Mr. Dodsworth, the agent, will not give out the amount of money secured by the robbery, but says it is very small. This he has ascertained by checking up the messenger's report. It is learned from railroad men that the safes of the Adams Express company were in the baggage car en route for Milwaukee, where they are turned over to the company's messengers.

The Fire and Marine Insurance bank had a sealed safe on the train which came through all right, and was delivered yesterday morning. About 1,000 money packages are received from railroad station agents here daily, and there were some thirty of these on the train that was robbed, but they were not in the express car, and were therefore not molested.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 13.—The family of David J. Thomas captured a burglar in their own house on Cleveland avenue.

ANARCHY IN CHICAGO.

One Hundred Police Break Up a Meeting.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—One hundred policemen, under the leadership of Inspector Lyman Lewis, marched down upon an anarchist meeting in Grief's hall, at 54 West Lake street, last night. The moment the first squad of police, headed by Lieutenant Wheeler, burst in upon the anarchists, a man named Daniel Sutter, who claims to hail from Buffalo, reached for a revolver in his hip pocket, but before he could use it officers overpowered and disarmed him. Sutter made a desperate resistance, biting and kicking the officers, until the irons were put on his wrists and he was hustled off to the Desplaines station house, fighting like a madman all the way.

The twenty-five or thirty men who were setting in the barroom tried to force their way out to the street, but were prevented by the police. Every man in the saloon was then searched for weapons. While this was going on another squad of police dashed up the narrow stairway into the halls above. "The police are coming, look the door," shouted a man in the meeting. The door was quickly barred and the twenty-five men who were assembled in this dingy little hall making inflammatory speeches waited for the attack. When the door was broken in only one man made any resistance. His name was Henry Miller. "D— the police," he shouted. "They are cowards or else they would not draw their revolvers upon innocent men." Two officers grasped Miller and searched him. He had a big revolver and fought desperately before it could be taken away from him.

Several copies of the speech delivered by Parsons on the night of the bomb-throwing in Haymarket square were found in a box in the hall.

After the building had been thoroughly searched about thirty of the most rabid anarchists were taken to the station. Some of them were booked for carrying concealed weapons and others for making inflammatory speeches calculating to incite a riot.

INDIANA MINERS.

Nearly All the Operators Willing to Grant the Advance.

BRAZIL, Ind., Nov. 13.—Fifteen miners went to work for Ehrlich & Company, at Seeleyville, a few miles west of here in a bituminous mine, the company agreeing to pay the advance demanded by the strikers. A committee of miners, however, waited upon them and succeeded in bringing about a cessation of work.

At Clay City a majority of the operators are reported as willing to pay the advance, but the men refuse to return to work unless the strike is declared off. The offer to pay the advance comes principally from the bituminous operators, as in their case only five cents per ton is demanded. There are rumors that a few block coal operators are willing to concede the ten cents per ton demanded, but no conclusions were reached in the session held here yesterday at syndicate headquarters.

It now looks that if an agreement is not reached by the 20th inst, there will be none prior to the holidays. Many miners have gone to Ottawa, Ill., where increased wages are promised, with a guarantee that no "pluck-me-stores" will swindle the employe out of his hard earnings.

TROUBLE IN CENTRAL AMERICA.

Revolutions Against the Governments of Guatemala and Honduras.

GUATEMALA, Nov. 13.—Granados and other leaders who are organizing a revolution against President Barillas, have their headquarters at Seapachula, Mex. The Mexican government will be asked to interfere and not permit a violation of the neutral law.

The Salvadorian government has demanded that President Barillas expel Salvadorian refugees who are in Guatemala conspiring against the Ezeta government.

Moneycombined with Revolutionists.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Nov. 13.—The country is honeycombed with revolutionists, who are determined that Leiva shall not occupy the presidency.

Ohio at the World's Fair.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 13.—The board of managers of the world's fair commission was in session here yesterday. The several committees having under consideration the work of preparing for the exhibits in their respective cases submitted estimates of the probable cost of such exhibits. The figures are not made public, the estimates being referred to the executive board for revision, rejection or approval, but it is understood the aggregate exceeds the $100,000 appropriated by the general assembly. It is probable the incoming legislature will be asked to increase the amount provided for making the Ohio exhibit at the Columbian exhibition.

Double Lynching.

BRENNHAM, Tex., Nov. 13.—A double lynching occurred in the Yeagon Bottom near Gay Hill, last Monday night. The men lynched were negroes of the neighborhood, and their bodies were discovered Tuesday morning hanging to the same tree. Nothing definite is known as to the cause of the lynching, except that the men were taken from a negro dance, at which a row occurred. The matter was not reported to the county officials until yesterday and they are now investigating the affair.

Switchmen on a Strike.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 13.—The switchmen on the Soo road in this city have gone out on a strike for the scale. There are fifteen of them, and already three of them are under arrest for interfering with the company's business. More arrests are threatened. The arrested men persuaded new men who were hired to quit, and all the switching is now being done by the officials of the road.

EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.
ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Proprietors.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1891.

CITY CLERK O'HARE is announced as a candidate for re-election. Mayaville never had a more efficient and more faithful Clerk. He deserves a hearty endorsement and will undoubtedly receive it at the hands of the people in January.

MR. ALBERT N. HUFF is a candidate for Assessor at the city election next January. He has filled this position the past year or so, and has discharged his official duties in a manner highly creditable to himself and entirely satisfactory to his constituents. He has an excellent record to back him in the present contest.

Turf Topics.

Henry Scannell, proprietor of the Phoenix Training and Sale Stable at Abdallah Park, near Cynthiana, made an assignment this week to U. S. Cason, attorney. Liabilities about $10,000; assets $8,000.

There is None Better.

Dr. R. L. St. John, of Howland, Putnam County, Missouri, takes especial pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, because he knows it to be reliable. He has used it in his practice for several years, and says there is none better. It is especially valuable for colds and as a preventive and cure for croup. The most excellent medicine is for sale by Power & Reynolds.

The Coming Game in England.

At the Queen's club, West Kensington, an exhibition was given of the new lawn game Tema, which has recently been introduced. The game, which can be played with equal enjoyment by both sexes, possesses many claims to popular favor. It can be followed in any season, and by as few as four or as many as fourteen persons at once. Skill, agility and a good eye are far more requisite than mere physical strength, and the proper manipulation of the wand by means of quick wrist turns develops and renders flexible the muscles of the arms and wrist.

A screen of wood or canvas, fixed on a light frame, and having in the center a circular aperture eighteen inches in diameter is erected. Behind the hole is fixed a bag net, and the main object of the players, who stand some distance away, is to throw a number of colored balls by means of the wand into this bag. The wand has at one end a peculiar shaped crook for holding the ball, but some little skill is necessary to retain the ball in it for the purpose of making the throw. The number of "pot balls" to be scored by each side before it can complete the first stage of the game corresponds with the number of players on each side.

When either side has scored the number of "pot balls" agreed upon, it enters upon the second stage and it once obtains a single "zoned" ball. Whichever side then first succeeds in scoring its "zoned ball" wins the game. The public exhibition of the new pastime was witnessed with interest, and a favorable opinion of its merits was expressed by many of the spectators.—London News.

Two Illustrations Invaluable.

Gounod is at his villa at St. Cloud, and is reported to be in very bad health. In fact he has been forbidden by his physician not only to undertake any work, but even to receive callers. The Count de Lesseps is also in very feeble health, and he does not rally from the attack which prostrated him after the investigations into the affairs of the Panama canal were commenced. But when a man has reached the age of eighty-seven every illness that seizes him at once assumes an alarming aspect.

It is no wonder that the "grand old Frenchman" should have collapsed during the past few weeks, especially since the seizure of the books and papers of the company has been effected, an operation which took place some days ago. The once busy and animated scene which the offices on the Rue Caumartin were wont to present has been exchanged for a dreary aspect of desertion. The long years of misplaced public confidence are ended at last.—Paris Cor. Philadelphia Telegraph.

The Thrasher's Song.

Ah, these are gay times up in the country, for the song of the thrasher will soon be heard in the big farmyard, and the women folk will be hard pressed indeed to make pie and doughnuts enough to satisfy those hungry men.

Thrashing time is always welcome on the farm where I have been. It seems like a touch of winter gaiety injected into the midst of summer. Of course I am talking now of the thrashing of winter wheat. The big thrashing machine goes from farm to farm and the men board around; take turns in helping out one another, and spark the girls with zeal mingled with discretion.

Thrashing, the farmer's wife tells me, is the hungriest work there is, and you would think so if you could see those fellows eat. A crock of doughnuts melts away like butter before a roaring fire, and as for pie, potatoes or pancakes, you have to hustle to keep up with them.—New York Herald.

FUEL GAS.

What a Writer in the Iron Trade
Review Says of the Harris Process.

Claimed to Be Cheaper for Heating and Cooking than Coal at 8
Cents a Bushel.

[J. P. G. in Cleveland Iron Trade Review.]

In these latter years an important question comes up, viz: while electric light will in time be of almost universal use in homes as well as all stores and other buildings, will the inventive genius of man devise a process, making a cheap gas which can not only be used as a fuel for all manufacturing purposes but for light, cooking and heating purposes in all places where gas will, to a great extent, take the place of coal, oil and gasoline for all the purposes they are now used and can this gas be made and furnished, not only to manufacturers at a price so low that it may in time entirely take the place of coal and its many annoyances, but at a price so low that in hundreds and thousands of homes in the land it can come into almost universal use? That inventive genius has been at work, and is devising means which will in the near future accomplish all that is so much desired in these matters, by manufacturers and housekeepers and all others interested, is without doubt. Already more or less is being accomplished in that direction. A company has been formed in Pittsburgh, to manufacture gas for all purposes needed, the invention of a Mr. Rose. In experiments which have been made, with a few hundred pounds of coal and a small quantity of light colored oil, a fuel gas has been made of a strong heating power and giving a bright light, at a cost as claimed by the parties interested of 6 1/2 cents per thousand feet. While this process will do something in the desired direction, the machinery made use of in that process is somewhat complicated, and the inventor has made some changes, enabling him in his experiments to produce this gas at the cost named, being less than what was the cost before these changes were made. This process has attracted attention to such an extent, that a company has been formed to sell rights to make same, and to furnish plants for any one needing it. Carnegie & Co., of Pittsburgh, have bought the right to make gas by this process, and will in time have it in successful use in all their factories. It is not known certainly to the writer that the purchase of this right includes the State of Pennsylvania.

The writer has seen an item in the papers that some one in the West by the name of Hall has invented a process of making gas, which is claimed, can be made out of garbage, if no other material can be had. So far as the writer knows, this process seems less complicated than the Rose. In this process the coal is crushed and converted into gas, but not any oil, as the statement says, being used. After being converted into gas, it passes through a series of electrodes and goes into the gasometer with very little, if any, odor, and so far as may be known, free from any poisonous elements. A company has been formed and offers to make, or has made, a contract to furnish gas to the city of Waukegan, Ill., at a cost not to exceed 15 cents per thousand feet. If this is done and in good faith, quite an advance will have been made in this important item and to the great advantage in every way to the people.

In referring again to the Rose process, the writer understands from the article published that in the low cost they claimed to have made gas for, they feel that when all the changes will have been effected they may be able to make gas and convey it to the gasometer at a less cost than 6 1/2 cents per 1,000 feet. Inventive genius, however, has not ended in these few illustrations. Mr. W. H. Harris, a practical mechanic and still a young man, gifted with quite a degree of inventive genius, has for some time been studying with a view to manufacturing a fuel gas at a less cost than by any other means thus far known. For some months he has been located in Mayaville, Ky., carrying on his experiments in a quiet way and perfecting the same from time to time; and while they may not be entirely perfect in every particular the tests were so successful, that descriptions and drawings were made and patents have been secured for his process in this country. The machinery made use of is more simple than that of the Rose or Hall process, and he is still at work on the same. He has quite a plant erected in Mayaville to make gas on a good-sized scale, and a chemist is engaged in assisting in the work by making from day to day an analysis of the gas. Prof. Payne, the chemist, is a graduate of Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland. Though still a young man, he has already had quite a valuable experience in his calling.

The writer has lately visited Mayaville and inspected the process, and was very much pleased as well as instructed. He saw the gas burning in a moderate way in a small grate, giving penetrating heat. He also saw it in a gas burner; the light looked brighter than the ordinary gas. In the furnace it was used in making steam for running the engines. A new furnace is now completed containing improvements giving a more satisfactory test of the gas for fuel purposes.

In tests thus far made this gas is almost entirely free from any poisonous element, quite an important item for users. While the two other parties claim to be able to make low price fuel gas, Mr. Harris's invention and process and the machinery used are so much more simple in every way, so far as can be seen, than that of Mr. Rose or Mr. Hall, that it is the feeling of all those interested in the matter that by this process a better and purer gas, for all purposes, can be made at a less cost than by any other process. In the Harris process the coal is all converted into gas and no by-products are left. In the Hall process there is some residuum of stone and slate left in the quantity of coal used. From what was seen by the writer on the occasion of his visit to Mayaville, and from his conversation with some of the interested parties, by the Harris process a very high grade of fuel gas for manufacturing, fighting, heating and cooking purposes can and will be without any doubt made and put into the gasometer at a less cost to the makers than by either of the other two processes named, and that in time it will be made and furnished to manufacturers for all purposes at a less cost than any fuel now being used, and at a less cost than natural gas is now being furnished to them, with this important consideration, that while natural gas may in time fall there in many places where now being furnished and used there will not be any danger of failure or loss of time to them in using this process for making their fuel gas.

To the courtesy of Mr. E. E. Wood I am indebted for the following description of the process:

"The plant consists of a generator and a fixing chamber; the generator is three feet inside diameter, and about two feet high. It is fed in charges of about 20 pounds of coal once a minute, or a minute and a half; steam is also admitted into the generator; the proportion used are fifty pounds of coal to 250 pounds of steam, and for fuel gas fifty pounds of hydrocarbon, naphtha or other light oils may be used. With fifty pounds of naphtha to the above named amount of coal and steam, a highly heating fuel gas is obtained. For illuminating gas about one-half as much more light oil is charged. The gas holder is comparatively small, holding between 5,000 and 6,000 cubic feet; this small plant makes 1,000 feet of gas per minute. The estimated cost of gas is not over 4 cents per 1,000 feet for illuminating gas of 15-candle power. The wonderful feature about this process is that it is continuous after the plant is once heated up. It does not have to be used intermittently as with most processes; the heat is maintained at the gas fixing point continuously. It is believed by engineers who have investigated it that fuel gas can be made from such a plant, and cities and towns supplied with it cheaper than natural gas can be piped long distances. The proprietors have offered to furnish Mayaville with both fuel and illuminating gas at a price not to exceed 50 cents per 1,000 feet. There is an ordinance to that effect now pending. The present price of gas in the city of Mayaville is $1.50 per 1,000. It is needless to say, however, that the old gas company is very bitterly opposed to the adoption of the new system.

"It is said by engineers who have experimented with the richness of this gas that at 50 cents per 1,000 it is cheaper for heating and cooking purposes than coal at 8 cents per bushel, to say nothing of doing away with smoke, and avoiding trouble from ashes, chimneys, stoves, etc. This enterprise is exciting a great deal of interest. It is thought that it is a cheaper and better gas for steel making and steel furnaces than the gas made by the Siemens-Martin furnace. With some grades of coal fuel gas can be made without the use of light oils, but for illuminating gas light oil is necessary to make the proper amount of benzol vapor.

"Berthelot, and subsequently Dittmar, eminent French engineers, have ascertained that the addition of 3 to 3 1/2 per cent. of benzol vapors added to marsh gas or fuel gas converted into a high illuminating gas. Frankland and Thorne, eminent English engineers, by a series of experiments likewise determined that carbonic oxide could be converted into illuminating gas by the addition of 5 per cent of benzol vapor. That fuel gas (marsh gas) would be converted into illuminating gas (14.25 candle power) by the addition of 3 1/2 per cent of benzol vapor. Some idea may be had of the cheapness of the process when it is understood that none of the products of combustion used in heating are wasted, but all converted into a combustible gas of greater or less illuminating power, in accordance with the amount of benzol vapor, or light oil, added thereto."

Cincinnati Tobacco Market.

(Wednesday.)

The breaks were large and the market held firm with a steady demand, and sales were generally accepted. The number of bids, good and fine leaf, was limited and was in active request at full prices, as was also colony trash and lugs. There was a fairly good demand for common and medium leaf. For the common and low grades there is a good demand at prices that are accepted.

Of the 774 bbls, 238 sold from $1 to $1.35, 149 from $1.35 to $1.50, 181 from $1.50 to $1.75, 75 from $1.75 to $2.00, 104 from $2.00 to $2.25, 29 from $2.25 to $2.50, 3 from $2.50 to $2.75 and 2 at $2.75 and $2.75.

THAT DOVER DEBATE.

The Preliminaries All Arranged For the Discussion to Commence Next Tuesday.

The approaching debate between Rev. J. B. Moody, D. D., and Rev. C. S. Lucas is all the talk at Dover. The preliminaries have all been arranged, and the discussion will commence next Tuesday morning. Five propositions will be discussed. They are as follows:

1. Remission of sins, with like blessings of salvation, is received before baptism. (Baptists affirm.)
2. Baptism to the penitent believer is for (in order to) the remission of sins. (Disciples affirm.)
3. The Scriptures teach that man is so depraved in mind and heart that he is unable, without a direct enabling power of the Holy Spirit, to obey the Gospel of the Son of God. (Baptists affirm.)
4. The communion as taught and practiced by the Baptists is sustained by the word of God. (Baptists affirm.)
5. The communion as taught and practiced by the Disciples is sustained by the word of God. (Disciples affirm.)

The debate will begin at 10 a. m. and close at 12 noon, and begin at 2 p. m. and close at 4 p. m. daily. Two days will probably be given to each of the first three propositions and one day each to the last two propositions.

Parties from Maysville can go down on the 10 a. m. train and return on the 4:30 p. m. train. Round trip from Maysville, 45 cents.

UNFAITHFUL OFFICIALS.

Two of Them in Robertson County Under Indictment.

The grand jury at Mt. Olivet got after some of the former officials of Robertson County this week. Several indictments were returned against Geo. L. Linville, Ex-Sheriff, and P. D. Linville, Ex-Superintendent of Schools. Each of them has failed to account for all the public funds that came into his hands.

Ex-Sheriff Linville is short about $4,000, and a suit is now pending to recover the money. An effort was made to hold his sureties responsible for the amount, but at the late term of the Circuit Court, Judge Arthur decided that the bond was defective, because it was executed before the levy was made. Another suit was then entered against Linville and his property was attached. He will now have to answer in the Criminal Court also.

The amount of P. D. Linville's shortage has not been learned.

DR. PANGBURN has removed to the brick residence lately vacated by C. B. Clift, opposite the Christian Church, Third street.

REV. J. E. WRIGHT of the M. E. Church, South, will conduct prayer meeting in council chamber at the opera house tonight, at 7 o'clock.

REV. S. B. ALDERSON, of Washington C. H., Ohio, is in town. He came over to preach the funeral of Miss Emma Bierley, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

DRESSED turkeys, game, spare-ribs, back-bones, tenderloins, celery, grapes, Florida oranges, bananas, new figs, citron, raisins and everything the market affords of the very choicest, at R. B. Lovell's.

IT is the current opinion in the country that Maysville is out of coal; but Dodson & Frazee, Wall street, still have a supply of semi-cannel and Pomeroy, which they are selling at less than Cincinnati prices.

IT is reported that the C. and O. will put on an additional regular passenger train Sunday and that a local freight between Maysville and Cincinnati will also be put on. The new time-card has not been received here yet.

REV. R. B. GARRETT, who went from Maysville a few years ago and took charge of the First Baptist Church at Austin, Texas, recently closed a meeting that resulted in sixty additions to the membership. He was assisted by Rev. George Simmons, of Louisville.

M. R. GILMORE has the largest stock of monuments and tombstones ever in Maysville at one time. He doesn't want to carry this stock over to next season, and parties wanting anything in his line can save from 15 to 25 per cent. by buying now. He offers these low prices for next thirty days only. Call and see for yourself.

NEW YORK, October 19.—The New York Herald has startled its companions of the press by the announcement of a free discussion of the question of the times—"The Silver question." Their columns are open. It matters not, either silver, gold or currency will suit Frank Owens Hardware Company for all goods in hardware, guns, ammunition, coal vases or anything else.

THE funeral of Miss Fannie Deans Blatterman, whose death occurred yesterday morning, will take place to-morrow (Saturday) afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Central Presbyterian Church. Friends of the family are invited. Burial private. Deceased was born and raised in this community, and was well known as a devoted Christian, a loving, faithful daughter, an affectionate, unselfish sister and a sincere and constant friend.

BE ON YOUR GUARD.

One of the Many Schemes By Which Farmers Are Swindled By Slick Rascals.

Why don't farmers learn a little from the experience of others? The land is full of tricksters who make their living by swindling country people out of their hard earned money. And as a rule they find easy victims. Here is a case in point. The Huntington Times says:

"A few days ago a finely dressed man drove up to the residence of Hilley Cremeans, a wealthy farmer living a few miles back of Rockwood, O., and asked Mr. Cremeans if he wished to sell his farm. Of course he would sell if he could get his price, $5,000. This the gentlemanly stranger very readily agreed to give, paying $100 down and taking bill of sale, balance to be paid in ten days.

"In the meantime along comes stranger No. 2 wanting to buy a farm. Mr. Cremeans' farm was the very one he wanted. Was sorry it was sold. If a fair question, what did he get for it? After being told, said he would give $8,000 for it. Suggested to Mr. Cremeans that he might buy stranger No. 1 off, and if he did so in the next three days he would find him in Huntington. After flourishing a big roll, he left.

"Stranger No. 1 happens along next day. He agrees to take $1,000 and give up bill of sale. Mr. Cremeans was overjoyed and hastened to pay over the money. Then he came to Huntington at once looking for stranger No. 2. He is still looking, and can't be made to believe that such nice men were rascals."

C. Burgess Taylor resigned as Deputy County Clerk for Mayslick precinct. S. M. Mynall was appointed to fill said vacancy and appeared and took the oath of office.

The Latest Concerning Fuel Gas.

The latest news in regard to fuel gas is that the company has applied to the C. and O. Railroad Company for the privilege of laying a main from the works in West End along the track to the depot. If the right is granted they will at once put down the main and heat the depot with gas, thus making a practical demonstration of all they claim for the wonderful invention.

The distance is about 3,000 feet, and the main can soon be put down, as it is not the intention to place it under the ground.

It is hoped the railway company will grant the right, as the people of Maysville are anxious to see a practical exhibition of the new fuel.

The Reception to Major General Cox.

The reception of Major General Cox in this city by the survivors of the "Sixteenth Kentucky" on the 30th inst. will be an interesting affair. He will be met at the C. and O. depot by a reception committee with carriages and escorted by the G. A. R. Post and visiting comrades, with Haneke's Band, to his quarters in this city.

The General will be entertained while here, at least a portion of the time, by Hon. W. H. Wadsworth.

The General was always a great favorite with the Sixteenth Kentucky Regiment, and one of the manifestations of that regiment's esteem for him was the gift of a five hundred dollar mare.

Here and There.

Miss Susie D. Fox, of Mayslick, is visiting Miss Martha Wheatley at the residence of Mrs. J. A. Worthington, on Fourth street.

Mrs. P. L. McDaniel and daughter Gertrude, of Jacksonville, Fla., returned home yesterday after a pleasant visit with relatives in this city.

New Trial Refused in the Sullivan Case.

Judge Cole overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of the Commonwealth against Samuel C. Sullivan, convicted of killing Thomas Broshears and given two years in the penitentiary. An appeal was then prayed to the Court of Appeals, which was granted. The defendant was sentenced, but the execution of the judgment was suspended for sixty days.

STORMS ABROAD.

Great Damage Done in Ireland, Belgium, France and Spain.

ITS EXTENT NOT FULLY KNOWN.

From Ireland the Storm Clouds Are Drifting Over the German Ocean—A Cyclone Sweeps Over Belgium—Many Vessels Wrecked Along the Coast of France—Heavy Gales in Spain—Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Though at midnight last night the great gale in England had subsided and the dark, heavy storm clouds had passed away to the northeastward, over the German ocean, it seems that the storm is prevailing in southwestern Ireland. A dispatch received this morning from Skibbereen, which lies forty miles southwest of Cork, states that the gale is raging there with great fury.

Many houses at Skibbereen, and some at Aldacourt, the port of Skibbereen, two miles below the town, have been greatly damaged. The gale now prevailing in that portion of Ireland is believed to be the first of the storm which the weather indications last night showed was approaching the coast from the Atlantic. Echoes of yesterday's storm are still heard. Dispatches continue to be received giving details of the havoc wrought along the coast.

Cyclone Sweeps Over Belgium.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 18.—A cyclone swept over Belgium yesterday. The wind blew from the southeast of France in the direction of England at a terrible speed. Great damage has been done. Many trees were uprooted in the parks of this city. In the Bois de la Cambre several newspaper stalls collapsed. The roofs of the Cercle Artistique et Littéraire and of the Hotel Continental were blown off. Several street accidents occurred and four persons were severely injured. Reports from various points show that the gale has done considerable damage in the provinces.

Many Vessels Wrecked.

PARIS, Nov. 18.—The wind blew a heavy gale here all day yesterday. Many persons have been reported injured. Dispatches received from Rouen, Lorient, Le Mans, Brest, Cherbourg and Havre report that tremendous wind storms have prevailed the entire day in all those places. A large number of accidents have occurred in the interior and many vessels have been wrecked along the coast. So great was the force of the storm that a railway train was blown from the track near Marcon, injuring five persons.

Heavy Gales Throughout Spain.

MADRID, Nov. 18.—Heavy gales and excessive rains are prevalent throughout Spain and Rome, causing an immense amount of damage. Telegraphic communication is interrupted on all sides, and further death and destruction from the floods are anticipated. On the northern and western coasts the storm is especially severe; several wrecks are reported, but no details can be obtained at present.

Chilian Cabinet Resigns.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A dispatch from Santiago de Chili says that the cabinet appointed by the junta have tendered their resignations. This act of the ministers is due to the fact that the liberal deputies have failed to elect councillors of state in accordance with an agreement they had previously entered upon with the ministers. A mixed cabinet will be formed to carry out non-political program.

Revolution at Athens.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A dispatch from Paris received last night announced that rumors were circulating in the French capital regarding an alleged revolutionary attempt at Athens to overthrow the dynasty of King George. No confirmation of the report has been received, and the whole affair, at the foreign office last night, was said to have originated with a sensational news agency.

Fire in a Tenement House.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A fire occurred in a large timber yard in the tenement house district of the East End yesterday, and spread to a number of dwellings. Over 100 families were rendered homeless, and a newly born infant died from exposure after being removed to the street.

Thousands of People Homeless.

HANKOW, China, Nov. 18.—A huge fire last week destroyed 1,300 houses in this city and rendered 13,000 people homeless. It is believed that a number of women and children lost their lives. Two days after 200 more houses were burned.

GRANGERS IN SESSION.

But Little Done at the Springfield Meeting.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Nov. 18.—Both national and state Granges did nothing but hear reports of officers. The most important feature of the national Grange meeting so far is the annual report of Colonel J. H. Brigham, master, the chief officer, of Delta, O. The position he has taken on the sub-treasury and land-loan schemes practically arrays the Grange against the Alliance, and is fruitful of many remarks of surprise, as Colonel Brigham two years ago was one of the strongest advocates of the 2 per cent. land-loan scheme.

The reports are now in the hands of the division of labor committee.

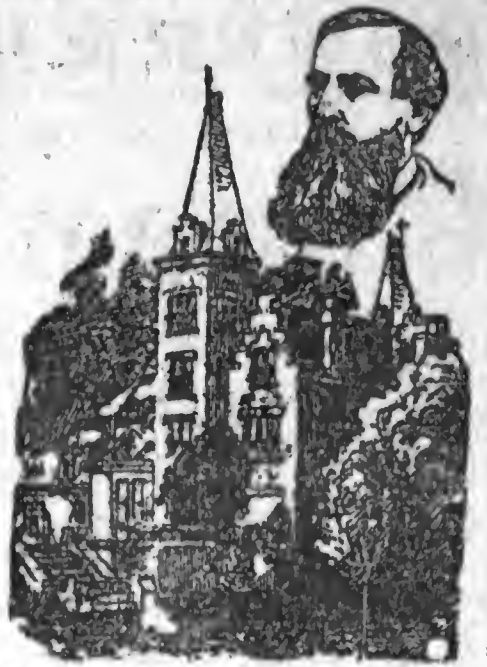

Wednesday night's meeting was taken up with conferring the fifth (flora) degree upon 212 candidates. The state Grange awarded prizes for increase in membership as follows: First, Buck Creek Grange, Clark county; second, Twin Valley Grange, Lorain county; third, Brighton Grange, Lorain county. Mother Stewart, the renowned crusader of this city, delivered a temperance lecture and was given an ovation.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 18.—The flouring mill of John Ehrismann was badly damaged by fire yesterday, the flames originating in the machinery.

DEATH OF DONN PIATT

Sudden Demise of a Noted Journalist and Author.

BELLEVILLE, O., Nov. 18.—Colonel Donn Piatt, the well known journalist and author, died yesterday evening at his home at Mac-o-Cheek, Logan county. Colonel Piatt had been suffering for several weeks with a complication of diseases, induced by la grippe, but it was only in the last few days that his illness was regarded as all serious, and his death was a complete surprise to his many friends in this vicinity.

DONN PIATT AND HIS HOME AT MAC-O-CHEEK.

Colonel Donn Piatt was born in 1819. A descendant of one of the early French settlers, his grandfather a distinguished officer of the revolution, and his father a merchant and banker of Cincinnati, Donn Piatt retained many of the characteristics of the Frenchman. A native of Ohio, he studied law, was admitted to the bar, and shortly after placed on the bench from which he was appointed to the diplomatic service at Paris by President Pierce.

At the outbreak of our civil war he entered as a private, and soon after accepted a position on the staff of General Robert C. Schenck, serving with honor through the war. In 1865 Colonel Piatt was elected from Logan county to the Ohio legislature, here he made himself obnoxious to the politicians by his advocacy of reform measures.

Sickening of politics, with an experience that has since proved invaluable to him, he turned his attention to journalism. For three years Washington correspondent of The Cincinnati Commercial he supplied that paper with a letter a day during the sessions of congress. These letters were a tremendous success, the reason for which Colonel Piatt said was that "the American public longed for personalities and I catered to that taste. In Washington I found the house a cave of the winds, and the senate a preposterous fog bank. My holding a solemn old pump of a senator up to ridicule was as startling as it was delicious to the public."

At the end of his three years' work as correspondent he joined with George Alfred Townsend in starting the Washington Capitol. Townsend shortly afterwards retired from the paper, as did Mr. Piatt in time.

Colonel Piatt has resided quietly at his country home in Logan county ever since his retirement from active journalistic work. In 1888 he was called from this retirement at the urgent request of Mr. Cleveland to found Belford's Free Trade Monthly Magazine in New York. He remained at that work upwards of a year when he returned to his country home, and at the time of his death was engaged upon an elaborate biographical history of General George I. Thomas. He has published a sharply critical work, "Memoirs of the Men Who Saved the Union."

Rev. Sam Small Assaulted.

ATLANTA, Nov. 18.—Rev. Sam Small was brutally assaulted yesterday by Tom Minor, a liquor dealer. Last Sunday Mr. Small delivered an address to a large crowd at the Prohibition hall in Atlanta, and after attacking the character of many Atlanta whisky dealers, he charged Tom Minor with deserting his family and leaving them to starve. Yesterday Minor saw Small enter a barber shop and followed him. Just as Small started to place his coat upon the rack, Minor struck him on the nose, felling Small to the floor, and before he could rise Minor kicked him in the face. Small's face is badly bruised.

Switchmen Strike.

TOLEDO, Nov. 18.—Wednesday the switchmen in the Wheeling and Lake Erie railway yards struck for more pay and a blockade ensued. Yesterday morning the railroads interested applied for aid from the United States court, and United States Marshal Wade was given orders to clear the tracks of intruders. He swore in about twenty policemen as deputies, and, with a little help from other men, the work has progressed. The trouble is now about over.

Pension Board on Ohio.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Secretary Noble has appointed the following pension examining board at Fostoria, O.: Dr. George L. Hooge, Dr. E. C. Henry and Dr. T. J. Sivers. Dr. H. K. Spooner, of Republic, O., has been appointed a member of the Tiffin, O., pension examining board in place of Dr. Hooge, transferred to Fostoria.

Knights of Labor.

TOLEDO, Nov. 18.—The general assembly of the Knights of Labor did not transact business of special importance to the order yesterday. The delegat attended the manual training school, and so well pleased were they with the practical work of that institution, which is a part of the Toledo common school system, that a resolution recommending such schools will be introduced in the general assembly.

A Novel Sale.

SEYMOUR, Ind., Nov. 18.—A very peculiar bargain has just been agreed upon between Dr. G. Q. Orris and Hon. William H. Shields, wherein Dr. Orris sells the latter a cow, Mr. Shields agreeing to pay the doctor $6 a pound for all the butter the cow produces in seven days in full payment for the milk, Dr. Orris to keep her the seven days.
